THE TARIFF BILL.
PROBABILITY THAT IT WILL NOT GET THROUGH THIS SESSION.
DISSATISFACTION WITH REED.
Methods of "the Can" Becoming Tiresome, Even to Republicans in the House—The Recent Elections—
Personal Notes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—(Special.)—There is said to be serious trouble over the tariff bill in the Senate committee, and there is absolute indifference in the body to the action of the House and afterwards journeying every three days. It is the impression now that the tariff bill will fail to be passed by this extra session of Congress. Senator Chandler is authority for the statement that the demand for prohibitive duties on various products is so great and imperative, and the sentiment of some Republicans is yielding to this demand, that the defeat of the bill is almost a foregone conclusion. The statement appears in a morning paper to the effect that the tariff bill would be reported to the Senate on April 26th. To-day a number of Republican senators were asked if this were true, and they all replied that there was no possible chance of the tariff bill's being reported by the Senate Finance Committee this month. The senators, the Republicans especially, are in no hurry with the tariff bill, and they are not at all frightened by the attitude of Mr. Reed and his do-nothing policy of adjourning from time to time in order to demonstrate to the country that all the delay in legislation is caused by the Senate.

DISCONTENT WITH REED.
There is also growing discontent in the House against the Speaker and his do-nothing policy. The vigorous "kick" made by Jerry Simpson, of Kansas, and the applause he received, shows that there is incipient rebellion in Mr. Reed's own ranks, and that it will break before long if the present policy is not materially changed. The Democrats have so far taken no part in regard to the do-nothing policy of the Speaker, and it is not clear that they will do so. They will neither advance nor obstruct his policy. They will simply place the responsibility where it rightfully belongs, and take such a course as will most seriously embarrass their political opponents. It can be seen now that the recent elections throughout the North and West have had a most alarming effect on the Republican leaders here. The latter realize that the people are disappointed because the issue of the last campaign has been utterly ignored by their representatives in Congress, and that they are attempting legislation which will increase the incomes of the trusts, decrease those of the laborer, and make taxes and make taxes and the necessities of life higher and dearer.

It is the belief that the Speaker will be forced to appoint the regular standing committee of Congress and proceed with current legislation. There are hundreds of bills on the calendar, introduced during this session, many of which are of great importance to the people, and it is believed that the Speaker will be forced to appoint the regular standing committee of Congress and proceed with current legislation. MINISTER SMYTHE AND HIS DEPARTURE.
Hon. Henry M. Smythe, Minister to Haiti, who arrived here yesterday, on leave for sixty days, called to-day at the State Department, where he had an hour's talk with Secretary Sherman, then taking leave in the affairs of Haiti and San Domingo.

Mr. Smythe consulted the Secretary as to an important diplomatic negotiation, now under consideration in the State Department, and asked for a full report on the subject, in writing. Mr. Smythe will probably send this report in this week, and then leave for Tazewell, with his daughter.

Representative Sidney P. Epps has sent to the Secretary of War the name of Mr. John C. Peggam, of Petersburg, son of Mr. George Peggam, to be a cadet at the West Point Military Academy. Young Mr. Peggam is a descendant of a long line of distinguished army and navy officers. His ancestors for several generations were officers in the United States army and navy, and several of them served with distinction in both branches of the Confederate service.

Representative Hay has made several calls at the Post-Office Department, in the interest of fourth-class postmasters in their respective districts. The understanding is that all incumbents will be allowed to serve until their terms expire. Mr. Epps has applied for the establishment of offices in Powhatan, Lunenburg, and Brunswick counties.

Dr. Elliott, called on General Walker, who accompanied them to the Post-Office Department, in the interest of Mr. William Elliott, of Blacksburg, who is an applicant for a postmaster's position there, when the term of the incumbent expires.

POSTAL UNION NOTICE.
The following notice has been issued from the Post-Office Department:
Post-Office Department,
Office of Foreign Mails,
Washington, D. C., April 5, 1897.

The adherence of the British Protectorate of Sarawak to the Universal Postal Union Convention and the regulations for its execution signed in Vienna the 4th of July, 1891, have been announced through the proper diplomatic channel, together with the information that said Protectorate will enter the Universal Postal Union on the 1st of July, 1897, and that the following postage rates will, thereafter, be applicable in that Protectorate, to articles contained in the mails exchanged between said Protectorate and the other countries and Colonies embraced in the Union, viz:

Letters, per half ounce, 8 cents of a dollar. (—3 cents), Postal cards, single, 3. (—2 cents), of a dollar. (—2 cents), Printed matter, commercial papers, and samples of merchandise, per 2 ounces, 1 cent of a dollar, with a minimum charge of 5 cents of a dollar per package upon commercial papers, and 2 cents of a dollar per package upon samples of merchandise.

The entrance of the Protectorate of Sarawak to the Postal Union makes of change in the postage rates and conditions now applicable to articles mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in that Protectorate. The Postal Union regime having been extended to said correspondence by the Postmaster-General's order, dated November 20, 1894. By direction of the Postmaster-General.

Representatives Hay, Rixey, and Swanson were at the Capitol to-day.

PERSONAL NOTES.
Colonel J. Hampton Hoge was in the city to-night. He is on his way to Philadelphia, where a little daughter of his is under medical treatment. The Colonel, however, while here, incidentally called on several of his political friends from Virginia.

Mr. Oliver Cotter, the assistant gardener at Mount Vernon, Va., has resigned his position, and will leave on the 17th of this month for Brooklyn, N. Y., where he intends going into business. Mr. Cotter is well known throughout Virginia.

Major Thomas Emory, of Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina, who is visiting friends and sight-seeing. Sheriff Sutton, of Bladen, is also here.

Mr. Crow, a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, has been appointed a laborer in the Pension office.

Congressman Linney has gone home on a visit, and will be absent some time. Mr. Paul J. Means, of Concord, is a visitor here.

REVENUE CASES AT GREENSBORO.
Contrary to the understanding between Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, and Attorney-General McKenna, in reference to the revenue cases pending in the Federal Court at Greensboro, which authorized a compromise, as indicated in these dispatches several days ago, the Solicitor-General instructed District Attorney Glenn to-day to proceed against the defendants, without regard to the alleged understanding. Senator Pritchard to-day saw the Solicitor-General, and explained that he was indignant at the action taken, which was probably prompted by the Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Senator Pritchard feels confident of final action, which will save the defendants from the full penalty of the law.

TRUMPION OF AGNEW.
The confirmation of Park Agnew as Collector of Internal Revenue at Lynchburg ended a hard-fought fight between him and P. M. McCaull. It is understood that Mr. Agnew will allow the offices to remain at Lynchburg, rather than move them to Alexandria.

Mr. McCaull is said to be slated for a fat consulship in either Scotland or Ireland—probably at Glasgow or Belfast.

PACIFIC RAILROAD DEBTS.
Report on Bill Authorizing Commission of Adjustment.
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Senator Gear, of Iowa, to-day made a report on the bill to authorize a commission consisting of the secretaries of the Treasury and the Interior, and the Attorney-General, to adjust the debts of the Pacific railroad to the government. The report reviews in detail the financial condition of the roads and their relations to the government. The bills for extending the debt of the Pacific railroad to the government, it is said, because of its judgment that the questions are so complicated that it could not devote the requisite time to their consideration, or reach satisfactory conclusions. Therefore, the committee thinks it would best express the wishes of Congress by a plan permitting the executive officers above-named, with the approval of the President, to make an adjustment with the owners of the property.

Dean Company Barred from Mails.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The E. S. Dean brokerage concern, whose suspension of operations at New York and elsewhere already has gained general notice, has been formally barred from the mails by fraud orders just issued by the Postmaster-General.

Torpedo-Boat Named "Foote."
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—Secretary Long to-day named torpedo boat No. 2, now building at the Union Iron-Works, the "Foote," to perpetuate the memory of one of the fighting naval commanders of the civil war.

ANOTHER GAME LOST.
THE ORIOLES DEFEATED THE BLUEBIRDS YESTERDAY.
A CLOSE CONTEST UNTIL THE SIXTH.

In This Inning the Local Lads Lost Their Heads and Gave the Champions Enough Runs to Win With Both Clubs Made Errors.

The Richmond Bluebirds went up against the pennant-winners of the National League yesterday, and though the Baltimoreans are the greatest aggregation of ball players ever gotten together, they found some difficulty in getting on to little Schmidt's delivery and did not succeed in winning the game until after Captain Wells, in the seventh inning, removed him from the box and substituted Flynn.

Up to the time that Flynn entered the box the game had been as pretty as heart could have desired. The little twirl had been as steady as it was possible to be, and though many of the Orioles are heavy sluggers, they couldn't do anything with the puzzlers that Schmidt tossed them. Indeed, they didn't make a hit until the end of the fourth inning.

FLYNN LACKED THE KINKS.
Flynn's delivery hadn't any kinks in it as his predecessor's had, and he was not by any means so effective. As a matter of fact, he was quite liberally pounded in the first inning he twirled, and he was not given nearly such support as he had been under advice.

Every Bluebird left his base, and few around. Of course, "Robby" was out, as the rules provide that an infielder, when first base is occupied, retires the batsmen. The local boys, however, didn't seem to realize this, or, if they did, seemed to be discouraged by something else. Wells left his base, and bunched in among the Orioles, who were soaring right and left before the bases.

ELBERFELD CAPPED THE CLIMAX.
Then little Elberfeld capped the climax. Two or three Baltimore coaches were huddled together in the neighborhood of first, and the Browns, seeming not to mind the fact that the Orioles were getting the ball out of the huddle of coaches. The throw had the effect of scattering that flock, but the ball rolled over against the bleachers, and another most disastrous error was that two Orioles spread their wings and sailed over the rubber.

The Bluebirds, with Wells as the central figure, held a council of war as soon as the dust cleared away to ascertain how it all had happened. Whether they found out or not was not communicated to the spectators, and the game proceeded, the Bluebirds pulling themselves together and getting back down to work.

They had done well during the previous innings in holding the Champions down to one run, and they did well afterwards, but the Orioles had gotten on to Kain's curves, and they continued to smack the ball and to score runs. They sent a pair of runners over the rubber in the seventh and two more across in the eighth, which, altogether, made the score 7 to 1.

THE BLUEBIRDS WOULDN'T BE SKUNKED.
The ninth rolled around, and it looked as though a shut-out was inevitable for Richmond. Tvas not so to be, though, as the Bluebirds, having imbibed the spirit of moving in pairs, rapped out several hits from Mr. Pond's delivery, and sent a couple of happy ones across the rubber. Elberfeld left off, and was given his base, but he was subsequently caught napping and put out.

Hargrove was then struck with the ball and limped to first. On a bad error made by McGraw he went to second, vacating the base for Kain, who had hit a slow one to Mr. Eisey and then hit on the head by Pond, and was given a walk to first, forcing Hargrove to third and Kain to second. The Orioles made good on their right-field, which scored Hargrove, and Schabel followed with a sharp rap to centerfield, on which Kain trotted over the rubber. The side was retired after this, and the run-getting, as well as the game, was over.

The score, here, appended, will give all the details of the game:

GITTERINGS OF THE DIAMOND.
The Baltimoreans will play here again this afternoon. Jerry Kopp, the ex-Atlantic Leaguer, who was purchased from Wilmington last year, will pitch for them. Nops sat in the grandstand yesterday and watched the game, and in conversation with a Dispatch man, said that Richmond's Bluebirds were stronger than any other club in the Atlantic League, and would undoubtedly finish near the first.

The Bostonians will play here to-morrow afternoon. There seems to be a strong tendency on the part of Richmond rooters to criticize the playing of the Bluebird team, and especially to criticize their inability to defeat the National League teams. There is no justice in this. It is not to be expected that a minor league club will, in many cases, defeat a team in the major league. The cranks should deal leniently with the local players, as harsh criticism at this stage of the game will discourage them and probably ruin some of the best players.

A VICTORY NOW COUNTS FOR NAUGHT.
Nothing can be told concerning the ability of the Richmond club to win the Atlantic League pennant, as the season is fairly launched and the club competing that league meet.

Richmond may win from a Big League club, or Norfolk may win from one that beats Richmond. That fact signifies nothing. There is always a large element of chance in a ball game, and the conditions may not be the same.

TARHEELS WIN AGAIN.
Lafayette Meets Second Defeat at Carolina University.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 8.—The Lafayette baseball team met its second defeat at the hands of the Tarheels to-day, by a score of 6 to 3. Both teams played better ball in to-day's game than in yesterday's, and up to the sixth inning it was an errorless game. The line-up of the teams was similar to yesterday's. Scores by innings: Sigman going to second base and Reese playing centerfield. The features of the game were Bray's home run in the seventh inning for Left on bases—Norfolk, 5; Philadelphia, 13. Double plays—Wentz and Shaffer. Time of game—1 hour and 45 minutes. Umpire—Mr. Chisnell.

WELLS DID RIGHT.
A great many cranks censured Wells yesterday for taking Schmidt out of the box when he was pitching such good ball. Jikes, however, Schmidt should not have been allowed to wear himself out. It doesn't matter whether we win from a National League club or not, and it would be a pity to let a man who has shown himself to be clever ruin himself before the pennant race starts.

"Put another man on the coaching line," is the cry that comes from the bleachers whenever a pitcher reaches second. The new rule provide that only one coacher shall occupy the lines, save when two or more men are on bases, when two may coach.

The Bluebirds shouldn't be too harshly criticized for errors when such men as McGraw, Stenzel, and Hugh Jennings make them. All three of these star players made misplays yesterday, and their errors were just as bad as those made by the Bluebirds.

Only one Richmond player is due to report here now. That is Leever, and he ought to come in next week.

The Bluebirds go to Norfolk to play two games with the Senators next week. The grounds at Broad-Street Park are getting in nice condition now, but grass is badly needed there.

Some Changes Suggested.
Richmond, Va., April 8, 1897.
To the Editor of the Dispatch:
In your issue yesterday you stated that Mr. Bradley, or, rather, Rich, had been endeavoring to please the public, and would in all probability release Mr. Pender, and play Kain on second. Being a constant attendant at the game, and taking great interest in base-ball, if not too presuming, I would like to make a suggestion, which, I think, will meet with favor from the majority of ball cranks, and which, it seems to me, will prove most satisfactory to the arrangement which now exists: Why not put Eisey on first base, Sholta on second, and let the outfield be composed of Hargrove, and Hargrove? Kain could be put as a substitute, and Mr. Wells sit on the bench and do the managing.

A GREAT SURPRISE.
Given the Supporters of the University Team.
UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, April 8.—(Special.)—The greatest surprise that has been given the "Varsity" supporters this season was afforded this afternoon in the defeat which was administered to the University by the McCabe University School Club, which won by the score of 8 to 7. A very small crowd witnessed the contest, and little interest was felt about the game. The visitors deserve much credit for the good exhibition that they put up, as they should certainly have little trouble in defeating the other school in the State.

Features of the game were the home run of Potts in the seventh inning, and the double play of Murrell to Potts in the fifth inning. The steady team-work of McCabe's was noticeable throughout.
